LAYERING

HOW TO LAYER YOUR CLOTHING

LAYER 1

The base layer, worn next to your skin, wicks sweat away to keep you dry. It should retain insulation when wet and is best made of wool or synthetic materials—avoid cotton. Choose comfortable, non-chafing options, and pack an extra set: one for hiking and one for relaxing or sleeping.

TRANSFER LAYER / BASE LAYER

INSULATING LAYER

LAYER 2

The insulating layer regulates body heat based on activity and weather. Lightweight or medium fleece jackets work well for active days, while fleece or heavy long underwear provides extra warmth in colder conditions. Opt for quick-drying, durable hiking pants—avoid cotton like jeans, which retain moisture. Layering with a down or PrimaLoft jacket offers easy warmth during breaks or evenings.

LAYER 3

The outer shell protects against wind and rain while allowing moisture to escape, keeping you dry inside. Waterproof, windproof, and breathable jackets and pants are essential. Features like hoods and vents can enhance comfort but aren't mandatory. Always keep this layer handy, as weather can change rapidly.

HUTS

SLEEPING ARRANGEMENTS

Huts on the Laugavegur Trail are dormitory-style with shared rooms. Sleeping areas often include bunk beds or long platforms with mattresses placed side by side, and in some cases, mattresses are double-sized, requiring sharing with another person. The group usually stays in one large room. To ensure comfort, light sleepers should bring earplugs and a sleep mask. These rustic huts provide a communal atmosphere, ideal for connecting with fellow travelers while enjoying the remote beauty of the highlands.

BATHROOM & SHOWERS

Bathrooms are available at all huts and campsites. Showers are available at Álftavatn, Emstrur, and Þórsmörk on the 6-day tour. Shower use costs 1000 ISK, and tokens can be purchased with cash or card at the warden's huts. Bathrooms include toilet paper and hand soap. Bring your own toiletries such as shampoo, towels, and washcloths.

FACILITIES

All huts have a kitchen along with basic utensils and equipment. Electricity at the huts is limited and power outlets are restricted. A portable charger is highly recommended for keeping devices powered throughout the trek.

CAMPING

SLEEPING ARRANGEMENTS

Campsites are located next to the mountain huts. By default, customers are assigned a two-person tent at booking. Participants can opt for a single tent for privacy; otherwise, tents are shared with a same-gender participant.

BATHROOM & SHOWERS

Customers who opt to camp will use the same bathroom and shower facilities as those staying in a hut. Shower use costs 1000 ISK, and tokens can be purchased with cash or card at the warden's huts. Bathrooms include toilet paper and hand soap. Bring your own toiletries such as shampoo, towels, and washcloths.

THINGS TO NOTE

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

MEALS AND SPECIAL FOOD + DRINKS

Meals include generous portions of milk products, eggs, fish, nuts, meat, and bread. Refreshments are provided between meals, but we recommend participants bring their own snacks, such as protein bars, if they feel additional sustenance might be needed during the tour. Special dietary options (e.g., vegetarian, vegan, gluten-free) are available for an additional cost. Booking these in advance ensures the best meal experience for all, so please kindly inform us of any dietary requirements before booking. Meals are a group effort prepared by participants, guides, and the team—a fun way to make food and friends! Guides typically lead the process, but everyone contributes.

WEATHER + TRAIL CONDITIONS

Consider yourself warned! Although it might be summer according to the calendar, Iceland's high-lands are notorious for their unpredictable weather. Conditions can change quickly and often it gets very cold and very wet in this area. It can snow in any month of the year! As we will be spending all of our time either outside or in a tent, it is necessary to bring good gear along. For detailed information on gear, please refer to the Clothing and Equipment checklist and the Notes on Clothing and Equipment section above.

TOUR EXTRAS

If you're unsure about your gear, we offer rentals for trekking tours, including waterproof jackets, pants, hiking boots, poles, and sleeping bags. Book these under "Extras" in the booking widget on our website. Already booked? Add gear by using our customer portal - My Adventures, or contacting our customer care.

WATER

Bring a refillable water bottle. Tap water at the huts and campsites is safe to drink, and there are streams along the trail where you can refill.

FITNESS

The Laugavegur Trek requires a moderate level of fitness. While it's not a technical climb, the trail involves long days of hiking, varied terrain, and significant elevation changes. Hikers should be prepared for 6-10 hours of walking per day, often on uneven, rocky paths and through diverse landscapes.

LUGGAGE TRANSPORTATION

Your main luggage, sleeping bag and mat will be transported between huts or campsites by a support vehicle (included). Please pack light in a waterproof duffel bag (70-80 L) to protect your belongings during river crossings. Each person is allowed one bag, so if you have extra luggage, consider storing it in Reykjavik (e.g., BSI Bus Terminal). For the trek, you'll only need a small daypack (25-40 L) with essentials like lunch, water, rain gear, and river shoes. When flying, we recommend keeping your hiking boots and thermal layers in your carry-on in the event case your luggage is delayed.

GROUP SIZE + SOLO TRAVELLERS

All our tours offer small group experiences. Most tours have a maximum of 16 participants, with the exception of our 4-day Laugavegur camping tour, which allows 14 participants. Hut accommodations are shared with your group and sometimes other trekkers. Campers can rent a single tent for personal use when booking or by contacting us at least 2 days before the tour starts.

CHARGING DEVICES & CONNECTIVITY

Iceland uses 230V, 50Hz electricity with F-type sockets, so visitors from the UK, USA, Canada, or other countries with different plugs, voltage, or frequency should bring an adaptor. Highland huts lack power facilities, and electricity is scarce, so it's essential to pack a power bank or portable charger. Phone coverage in the Highlands is limited, with occasional unreliable 3G/4G spots near huts, and there's no WiFi, making this a truly off-the-grid experience.
